

Tokio Marine HCC – Specialty Group is pleased to introduce our valued Restaurant Recovery/ Food Borne Illness policyholders to The Acheson Group (TAG) as your new crisis consultants. Through this dynamic partnership, TAG will provide Tokio Marine HCC policyholders with industry-leading crisis response services including access to a 24/7 crisis hotline as well as a broad array of food safety consulting and crisis management services.

The Acheson Group (TAG) has been in operation as food safety consultants since 2009 and is led by Dr. David Acheson who has over 35 years of experience in food safety. David was previously the Associate Commissioner for Foods at the FDA and has built a strong team of in-house food safety experts to help you. We provide leadership in the knowledge of industry best practices for food safety and crisis response.

- TAG is a virtual company with an international client base – from growers to food service & retail, we have deep connections to global food safety companies & food safety leadership.
- We provide unique services through our industry expertise & global perspectives.
- We focus on assessing & managing operational risk, reputational risk & regulatory risk worldwide.
- TAG regularly manages reputational risks for a diverse range of clients.
- TAG has extensive experience protecting our clients' reputation with consumers, regulators and the media.

TAG will continue to offer the same quality crisis services you've had in the past. However, now we will be providing you with new approaches to preventing and managing risks. Look for new newsletters and updates with tips on how to stay ahead of trouble.
