RECOVERED FOR OUR CLIENTS IN 2025 WITH STILL SOME PENDING

Here's how we do it

MISDIRECTED FUNDS RECOVERY

Our insured transferred $1,875,059.89 to a fraudulent account based on an email they received that purported to be from a client. Months later, after failed attempts to recover through their bank, the insured contacted TMHCC. We were able to leverage law enforcement and banking contacts to recover over $900,000 of those misdirected funds for the insured. The recovery, plus the $250,000 in coverage afforded, helped to minimize the insured's losses as much as possible.

ff I cannot thank you enough for doing that and helping us get back some of the dollars lost. It's nice to be reminded that good people are out there in the business world who are still willing to lend a hand even when it doesn't necessarily benefit them directly. ff

THANKSGIVING PAYMENT

Our Cyber Incident Management Team was assisting an insured with a negotiation into Thanksgiving break, ultimately requiring payment while offices were closed. Due to TMHCC's Cyber Incident Management Team and Cyber & Tech Claims Team's real-time availability, even on Thanksgiving Day, we were able to obtain internal approval to make a large ransom payment so that the insured could restore operations by the following Monday to minimize business interruption.

VENDOR AS "WHITE HAT" HACKER

While assisting our insured with response to an incident, our Cyber Incident Management Team vendor discovered a Threat Actor left access to the file sharing site used to steal and host the insured's data. This allowed the Incident Response firm to use the Threat Actor's credentials to access the file sharing site and delete the insured's data, minimizing the data exposure and keeping the data out of the hands of criminals.

The above scenarios used are examples of the types of claims and associated costs commonly seen and do not represent a comprehensive explanation of any one particular claim. While the subject coverage is designed to address certain risks and associated costs, coverage may not be available in all circumstances. Each reported claim will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis. The actual policy or endorsement language should be referenced to determine coverage applicability and availability.

Financial Strength

With our strong financial foundation, we will be there when your insureds need it most – when we find a vulnerability on their network or when a claim happens.
