Commercial Producers Indemnity Insurance (Media Production Insurance)

Productions are costly, time-sensitive and exposed to disruption at any time for a variety of reasons. Commercial Producers Indemnity insurance protects against financial losses from interrupted, postponed or cancelled shoots for reasons beyond the production company's control.

Scenario

If a production team arrived at a hired studio to film a music video, only to find that a burst water pipe had flooded the entire venue, they would have to incur significant, unplanned costs to find a last-minute replacement. Tokio Marine HCC's Commercial Producers Indemnity insurance can cover those costs, allowing the production company to find a new studio and keep the show on schedule.

Coverage

Our Commercial Producers Indemnity product covers the direct financial loss suffered by a production company when the production of an advertisement, music video, educational video, corporate video, or stills photography campaign is:

- Interrupted;
- Postponed;
- Cancelled; or
- Abandoned

for a reason outside the producer's control.

We can also cover:

- The cost of physical damage or loss to production media or negatives;
- The repair or replacement value of technical equipment and props; and
- Legal liabilities resulting from third-party property damage, third-party bodily injury, or injury sustained by an employee following an incident.

Who buys it?

Production companies carrying out the production of advertisements, branded content, music videos, educational and training films, corporate videos, and stills photography work.

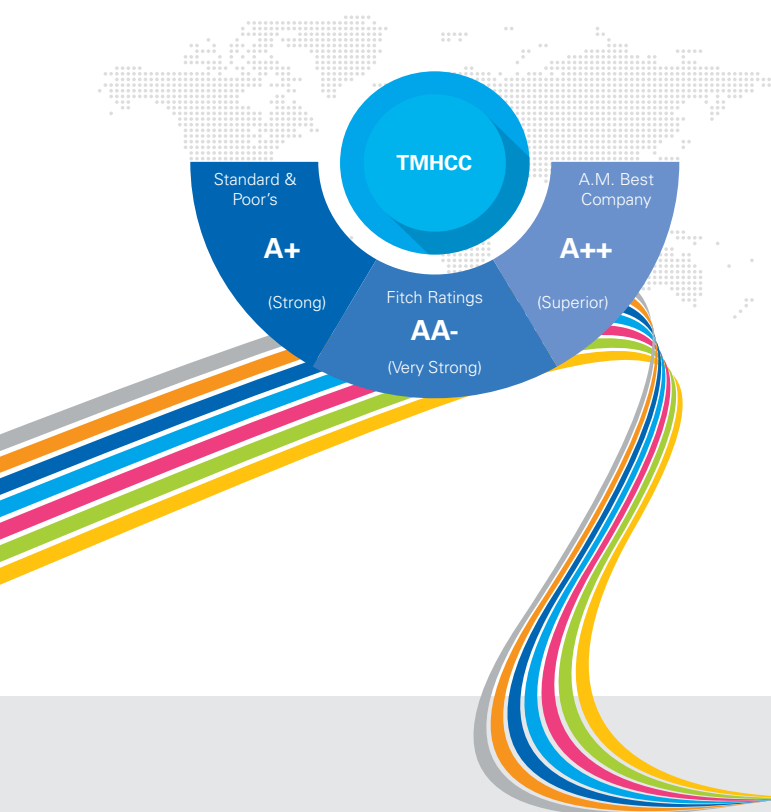

Commercial Producers Indemnity insurance affords comprehensive coverage for a wide range of risks that commercial production companies face when filming and creating content.
